Turgen gorge in Kazakhstan is a remarkable natural treasure offering unique conditions for the development of a large world-class all-season mountain resort.

The gorge is located in the south of the country, 70 km from Almaty, which is the largest city in Kazakhstan and is commonly known as its 'mountain capital'.

In addition to a picture sque landscape and abundance of water sources, the gorge is suitable for the construction of up to 100 km of high-mountain ski slopes and a hotel resort with sports and entertainment facilities.

Today, with its trails, waterfalls, thermal springs and varied flora, the unique natural environment of Turgen gorge is attracting ecotourists both from Kazakhstan and from further afield.

Project overview: Turgen All-Season Mountain Resort

One of the most important tourism projects for Kazakhstan is the development of an all-season mountain resort in Turgen gorge near Almaty in the south of the country.

Kazakhstan is enjoying strong economic growth and has an attractive investment climate. Moreover, the Government of Kazakhstan has identified tourism a priority sector and identified the country's top 10 tourist destinations, the largest of which the city of Almaty and the surrounding region.

Today Turgen is an attraction for ecotourists from Kazakhstan and neighboring countries because of its distinctive natural environment and proximity to the city.

The climate and landscape of the area make Turgen an attractive location for an all-season resort offering an extended value proposition for winter sports enthusiasts and ecotourists, with a total potential of 1.1–1.3 million visitors per year.

The plans for the resort include commercial infrastructure with a capacity of up to 16,000 beds in various categories of hotels and chalets, and construction of up to 100 km of ski runs.

The preliminary total cost of the project is USD ~1 billion. Public investment is planned to provide utility and transport infrastructure, as well as possible co-financing of ski infrastructure.

Development of tourism is a priority for Kazakhstan's economy over the next fiveyears

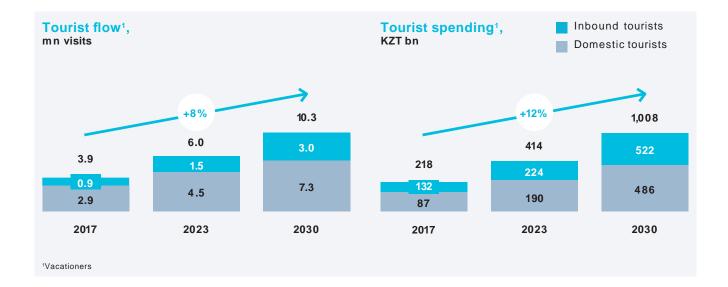

... A promising source (of income) for any region is the development of inbound and domestic tourism, which today creates one in ten jobs worldwide. The government, in turn, needs to take a set of measures, including simplification of visa procedures, development of infrastructure and removal of barriers in the tourism industry...

Nursultan Nazarbayev, the first President of Kazakhstan

...In the near future, Kazakhstan could become one of the most attractive places for foreign and domestic tourists, as well as one of the world's ethnotourism centers. The time has come to radically change the current state of the tourism industry.

Kassym-Jomart Tokayev, President of Kazakhstan

The key growth driver will be the creation of a unique value proposition to:

Redirect the flow of Kazakhstani tourists who currently take vacations abroad to domestic resorts

Encourage previously non-traveling residents of the country to invest in domestic tourism
